If you want a rewarding career that offers employment and job satisfaction, then the Health Care Aide program is perfect for you. This program blends Indigenous thought and ways of being into the traditional Health Care Aide curriculum.

Health Care Aides are front line workers providing basic health services and daily living activities services directly to the client. It is important that you are physically fit as working with physically impaired clients is part of the job.

This program will teach you how to communicate and work effectively with the health care team, clients and family. This program will support you in providing care and understanding of the function of the human body in relation to holistic, ethical, safe patient care in various stages. It will prepare you to write the provincial exam to become certified as a Health Care Aide.
